Third Sunday of Easter

this week . . .
May 4 - May 12

Jesus said to them, "Come, have breakfast." And none of the disciples dared to ask him, "Who are you?" because they realized it was the Lord. Jesus came over and took the bread and gave it to them, and in like manner the fish. - Jn 21:12-13

Reflect & Respond to Scripture

First Reading

In the immediate weeks and months following Jesus' resurrection, the Apostles performed many miracles, but they also suffered for their faith and for preaching about Jesus. Why do you think non-believers even today are threatened by Jesus' resurrection from the dead?

Second Reading

What does John's vision reveal to us about the unseen order?

Gospel Reading

Three times the resurrected Lord asks Peter, "Do you love me?" And three times Jesus tells Peter to "feed/tend my sheep/lambs." Jesus then foreshadowed Peter's martyrdom. What do you make of this exchange between Jesus and Peter?

WORDS TO INSPIRE THE FAITHFUL

"In the life of every Christian there are countless resurrections."
- Caryll Houselander

Thank You

Last Sunday, April 28, Gift Offerings

$6,645 including our tithe ($665) for our sisters and brothers in need

"We are his people, the sheep of his flock."

- Ezekiel 34:30

"As Christian stewards, we receive God's gifts gratefully, cultivate them responsibly, share them lovingly in justice with others, and return them with increase to the Lord."

The annual diocesan appeal is an opportunity for us to be good stewards of God's gifts as we share with other Catholics our abundance and blessings. Living and Giving in Christ gives an opportunity to act together as a family of faith and support the ministry and services no single individual or parish can offer by themselves. Our parish goal this year is $83,892. Your pledge IS important. Every gift, regardless of size, is vital to ministry of our Diocese.

We have concluded our Lenten Project in support of Sustainable Harvest International. Through our Lenten tithe and your additional generosity, we will send a check in the amount of $15,500 to support this important ministry. God bless you for assisting our brothers and sisters in great need.

Community Challenge

Live the Liturgy - Inspiration of the Week

If you really want to get to know someone, invite them to dinner. Sharing a meal with someone opens up the door to a deeper, more intimate, and more authentic encounter. When we gather around a table, we are more vulnerable and are reminded not only of our need for food and sustenance, but also the love of friends and community. We are meant to be together. Meals can be opportunities not only for authentic meetings, but for healing relationships, for understanding one another better, and for renewal. Jesus invites us to dine with him once again at today's Eucharist. He receives our pain and blesses our wounds. We are forgiven, set straight, renewed, and reconfirmed in our task of discipleship. Love is celebrated here again. May we bring that love to those who need it most, especially those we may find difficult to love and to those who have hurt us. Share with them the bread of compassion and the wine of mercy.

Martha & Mary Monthly Meeting

The Martha & Mary Women's Group invites all women of the parish to a presentation on "Love thy Neighbor: Caring for Others" on Saturday, May 18 at 10:00 a.m. at the Emmaus House. Simon Burke from the Laramie Care Center will help us explore ways to best minister to our neighbors in need of comfort, care and companionship. In our small group discussions we'll explore our individual strengths and how we're each uniquely created to love our neighbor. Martha and Mary was founded on the pillars of Fellowship, Spirituality and Service. After the presentation, Colleen Weber, Martha and Mary Co-President/Service & Encouragement, will introduce two of our upcoming Service Projects.

New members and guests are always welcome. Check the Martha & Mary Bulletin Board in Bishop Newell Hall for more information and a schedule of upcoming events.

Vivir la Liturgia - Inspiración de la Semana

Si realmente quieres conocer a alguien, invítalo a cenar. Compartir una comida con alguien abre la puerta a un encuentro más profundo, más íntimo y más auténtico. Cuando nos reunimos alrededor de una mesa, somos más vulnerables y nos recuerda no solo nuestra necesidad de comida y sustento, sino también el amor de los amigos y la comunidad. Estamos destinados a estar juntos. Las comidas pueden ser oportunidades no solo para reuniones auténticas, sino también para relaciones sanadoras, para entendernos mejor y para renovarnos. Jesús nos invita a cenar con Él una vez más en la Eucaristía de hoy. Él recibe nuestro dolor y bendice nuestras heridas. Somos perdonados, rectificamos, renovados y reconfirmados en nuestra tarea de discipulado. El amor se celebra aquí de nuevo. Que podamos llevar ese amor a aquellos que más lo necesitan, especialmente a aquellos que podemos encontrar difíciles de amar y a aquellos que nos han lastimado. Comparte con ellos el pan de la compasión y el vino de la misericordia.

Misa en español

La comunidad hispana se reunirá después de la misa el 5 de mayo para discernir cómo avanzar con la misa en español.

Bringing Home the Word

Third Sunday of Easter (C)

May 5, 2019

Showing Our Love

By Mary Katharine Deeley

It has become the habit in our family to say “I love you” at the end of phone calls and e-mails. I love these frequent reminders that I am valued and worthy of love, and I like the opportunity to remind my daughters and husband that they are the same. We underscore these reminders with little acts of love. Our daughters joke that my husband and I are the only parents they know who still date. And when we do go out, we take turns paying for the other’s dinner. My husband once sent me flowers when I didn’t get a job I had hoped for. It was a kind and thoughtful gesture.

In the Gospel, Jesus asks Peter, “Do you love me” not once, but three times. When Peter responds positively (though progressively with more irritation), Jesus continues, “Feed my lambs...Tend my sheep...Feed my sheep.” It isn’t enough to say we love people. We show it by caring for them and for who and what they cherish. The best way that Peter could show his love for Jesus was by caring for the people of God. He could love all the disciples and invite others to follow Jesus as well.

Pope Francis once exhorted priests to “be shepherds with the smell of sheep.” Jesus is telling Peter—and all of us—much the same thing. To love the Lord is to truly live among his people: to touch them, tell them, and show them they are valuable and desired. This is the face of love.

All people deserve to know they are loved, but in our world that is not always the case. How might we respond? +

Sunday Readings

Acts 5:27–32, 40b–41

So they left the presence of the Sanhedrin, rejoicing that they had been found worthy to suffer dishonor for the sake of the name.

Revelation 5:11–14

And [the angels] cried out in a loud voice: “Worthy is the Lamb that was slain.”

John 21:1–19 or John 21:1–14

[Jesus] said to them, “Cast the net over the right side of the boat and you will find something.”

*It isn’t enough to say we love people.
We show it by caring for them and for who and what they cherish.*

A Word from Pope Francis

May the Christian communities be sustained by the intercession and example of our many martyrs and saints who bore courageous witness to Christ and have themselves attained full unity. So what are we waiting for?.... As his disciples, we are called to testify everywhere, with Christian fortitude, to his humble love.

—Address to a commission for theological dialogue, January 27, 2017

REFLECTION QUESTIONS

- Do I remember to tell family and friends that I love them? They want to know.
- Do my actions show love for all God’s people, indicating that they are valued and respected?

Treasuring God's Creation

By Kathy Coffey

Thou shalt reverence the earth.

If we were to add a commandment reflecting the call to God's people in our century, this might top the list of possibilities. People have long delighted in the beautiful surroundings for the human journey. But for the first time in history, our planet is gravely threatened.

While this commandment isn't one of the official ten, we have a long tradition of respect for God's creation. Genesis 1 shows God lovingly shaping the solar system, oceans, land, vegetation, and animals in a crescendo that leads to humanity. When God gives humans "dominion" over other creatures, the implication is wise stewardship rather than blatant exploitation.

Many psalms are suffused with an appreciation of nature. Psalm 96:11-13 personifies the natural world praising God: "Let the heavens be glad and the earth rejoice; let the sea and what fills it resound; let the plains be joyful and all that is in them. Then let all the trees of the forest rejoice before the LORD."

Saint Francis' Canticle of the Sun is an outburst of joy in sun and moon. Saint Clare reminded her congregation to "praise God" when they saw "beautiful trees, flowers, and bushes..." Both saints traveled lightly; their commitment to poverty translates into the slogan of environmentally conscious people today: "Buy less stuff."

Receiving Well

Each week, Catholics celebrate the Eucharist, whose root word means "to receive well." Our weekend celebrations should spill into a week of receiving well, especially the earth's gifts: food that energizes our bodies, the sights of mountains, streams, stars, or sunsets that feed our spirits. As Rachel Carson wrote in Silent Spring, the absence of birdsong with all it represents would make our environment eerily quiet and rob the soul of sustenance.

With such a rich tradition of respecting the earth, we Christians should naturally take practical steps to reduce our carbon emissions and, hence, climate change. The scientific community agrees that we can take practical steps to save the planet now, to prevent our grandchildren from asking, "Why didn't they act when they could?"

Warning signs are clear: The polar ice caps are melting fast because dangerous gases trap the sun's heat. The average car driven 10,000 miles a year releases 5.5 tons of carbon dioxide into the atmosphere. Barbara Kingsolver points out in Animal, Vegetable, Miracle that our children will have shorter lifespans than ours because of their junk food, obesity, and poor quality of air and water.

We know how to solve this problem. Apologies to those who know these steps, but for those who don't: Use energy-efficient light bulbs and appliances. Drive a hybrid car. Walk or bike when possible. Recycle. Turn down the thermostat. Plant trees.

Actively Saying Thanks

Hopeful signs of community awareness and cooperation abound. More than a thousand US mayors have signed the Climate Protection Agreement to reduce carbon emissions in their cities. Many companies, churches, schools, and homes are committed to "going green." Oikos, the Greek word for "household" (the root for ecology, ecumenical, and economy) underscores the link between our individual households and God's house, creation.

In her novel Animal Dreams, Barbara Kingsolver records a conversation with a native American who explains that God lets us live in this house, and we should send a note of thanks just as we would after being anyone's guest: "We appreciate the rain, we appreciate the sun....Sorry if we messed up anything. Thanks for letting me sleep on your couch."

Reverencing the earth is an active way to express our thanks. +

Risen Lord, you gave your life to save the world. Help me to be a selfless servant of love and peace in the world.

—From Hopeful Meditations for Every Day of Easter Through Pentecost, Rev. Warren J. Savage and Mary Ann McSweeney
