

GOD WANTS US TO FORGIVE OTHERS

[Capernaum] — Jesus sat teaching his disciples, at his house in Capernaum by the Sea of Galilee. His followers wondered how to get along with people who were doing things to hurt them. They wondered if they should make those people pay for the wrong things they did. Jesus told his disciples, "You must give those people a new chance, the same way God gives you new chances every day."

But that did not convince some of the followers of Jesus. They thought you should stop being good to somebody who kept on doing things to hurt you. Jesus said, "You must give them a new chance every time they need and ask for one." Jesus said we should forgive people even when what they do is so big and so bad we really want to punish them instead.

To teach the lesson in another way, Jesus told a story about a man who owed millions of dollars but could not repay the debt. The king to whom he owed it just forgave the debt. The lucky man forced someone else to repay him just a few dollars he had coming. Jesus said, "That man was wrong not to forgive the debt."
