

JESUS AND HIS FRIENDS CLIMB A MOUNTAIN

(Mount Hermon) — Jesus had twelve followers. Sometimes he did special things with only three of them. These three were named Peter, James, and John.

Once Jesus took these three friends of his and went mountain climbing. When they got to the top of Mount Hermon, in the country north of Jesus' home town, they could see for miles. Sometimes the clouds would float down below them, it was so high off the ground.

While they were high up on the mountain, something unbelievable happened. Jesus began to shine with light. And soon some other men appeared with him, also shining with white light. The other men were Eijah and Moses, famous followers of God from a long time ago. Jesus' friends, Peter, James, and John could not figure out what was happening. Then a voice from the sky said, "Jesus is my Son. Listen to him." The voice came from God.
